American Relief Administration Issues Statement Setting Forth Its

When nature calls for assistance, it is needed quickly; but it must be a remedy that leaves no bad effects; that builds up, not tears down. This is the logical effect of Plant Juice, the new horbard statement is used to night by the American Relief Administration, signed by Edgar Rickard, joint director, and Julius Barnes, wheat director. The statement was issued "to clear up misapprehensions in regard to the control of pork prices by the food administration and the misconception that government organizations are holding large stocks of food to the detriment of the consumer."

The food administration, the statement wad a performance by a ministral troupe composed of workers, whose singing and acting and conversation delighted the members and their wives who were present. After this part of the program had been carried out Mr. Wilson was introduced and the cheers that greeted him certified to his popularity among his fellow-workers.

It is easy enough to detect the difference between a genuine and a forced ovation; one is spontaneous; the other shows it is given because it is expected.
